

→ How to divide / manage 30 mins?

1) 5 min - Brainstorming on rough paper

1) In issue, make a list of positives & negatives of the topic & choose the side, which has maximum points, for your stand.
2) In argument, find flaws (at least 3 or 4 flaws) and analyze

2) 20-22 min - Typing

3) 3-5 min - Reading the entire response & rectifying any errors (grammar, spelling, typo, etc.)

→ Target word ~~at~~ count : Min 350 words but try for around 450 words

Issue Essay - Structure

Para 1 : Introduction

- 1) Restate the issue (use your words)
- 2) State your stand
- 3) Any generic statement about the topic (if possible)

Para 2 :

Elaborate the reasons for your chosen stand.

Para 3 :

Target 2 examples (real life examples but if you cannot re-collect any then create hypothetical examples)

Para 4 :

Acknowledge the counter side
(Avoid examples in this paragraph)

Para 5 : Conclusion

- 1) Restate the stand chosen & back it up by summarizing your body
- 2) Generic statements would look good (if possible)

Argument Essay - Structure

Para 1 : Introduction

- 1) Re-state the situation
- 2) State author's conclusion
- 3) State that the conclusion is weak/ flawed.

Para 2 : Flaw 1 & its explanation

For explaining any flaw,
1) explain the flaw

Para 3 : Flaw 2 & "

2) Give multiple examples / scenarios / situations ~~on~~ giving other possibilities

Para 4 : Flaw 3 & "

3) Possible solutions to overcome the flaw

Para 5 : Conclusion

- 1) Restate that the conclusion is flawed / weak
- 2) Summary of flaws
- 3) Summary of solutions.